MASON VETERANS AND SERVICEMEMBERS LEGAL CLINIC (M-VETS)

The first clinic of its kind at any law school in the United States of America, M-VETS provides free legal representation to active-duty servicemembers, veterans and their dependents while offering law students the opportunity to receive supervised, practical legal experience by advocating for those who serve or have served in our armed forces.

The Antonin Scalia Law School has always been recognized as a safe harbor and advocate for military servicemembers and veterans. It boasts a high percentage of veterans among its JD graduates.

M-VETS serves the community and provides opportunities for law students to share in Mason's tradition of respect for our veterans.

Under supervision, students in the clinic assist clients with matters before federal agencies. The clinic serves the dual purpose of helping our servicemembers, veterans and their families as well as providing substantive legal training for our students in an environment designed to give back to the military community.

PRAISE FOR M-VETS

"To say that M-VETS is an amazing resource to the Veteran Community is a massive understatement. Without this service we would have had no choice but to abandon our legal case. Their professionalism, dedication and work ethic are in line with the highest ethos we were all instilled with in the U.S. military."

-USMC VETERAN

"If I had to sum up what the clinic has meant for my family and me, it would be 'hope'. They took on our matter, which we could never have afforded to pursue on our own, and fought to get justice for us and compensation for all we had lost." -CPL AND SPOUSE, US ARMY
